A projective smooth compact curve X over an algebraically closed field k is said to be an elliptic curve if X is a 1-dimensional scheme with an ample class. Here I'm confused about the above definition. Is it true that the class of an elliptic curve X can be "simply" defined by X ? That is, a class A on X is said to be ample if and only if there exist $m \geq 1$ such that $A^m \in \text{Pic}^0(X)$. A: Yes, the class of an elliptic curve is simply its smooth curve. A curve C is a elliptic curve if it is a smooth connected projective curve over the algebraically closed field k in this case, the class $[C]$ of the curve C is defined to be the class of the k -rational points of C . By the definition, this is clearly an integral effective divisor, and a fortiori a closed subscheme of codimension 1, so that it defines an element in $H^1(X, \mathcal{O}_X)$. In fact, this class is independent of the closed immersion $X \hookrightarrow P^n$. As Mark Grant points out, the author may also mean a smooth connected projective curve of arithmetic genus one over k . In this case, the class $[C]$ is even independent of X . In fact, the curve C is the fiber of the relative Jacobian fibration over k . By Proposition 1.6.2, the class $[C]$ is trivial if and only if the fibration is trivial. Finally, if $k = \bar{k}$, then the class of a smooth projective curve is already independent of any embedding,
