A: There are lot of scam websites which can steal your account information, so be careful when registering, and register your application on that website but don't transfer money to the site as it can also cause problems. Also all websites you sign up on must have bots to prevent cheating, so they can ban you forever from using those website and if they didn't have bots to prevent you from cheating they wouldn't be able to make money out of it and would close the website. All free robux websites have some hidden topics, hidden ID which can be linked to your account. So, if they steal your account ID it's only possible to steal money out of that website but not robux. It's very hard to get free robux from a website and there are lot of websites which take a lot of time to get robux, so you will only be able to get a limited amount of robux. Q: Python, skip some characters while reading file I have a text file with the following format: hello "this is a cool blabla file" This is the part of the code: data = "" with open('data.txt', 'r') as dataFile: for line in dataFile: print(line) data += line print(data) I want to skip "this" and "a". Any ideas? A: If you want to skip everything up until the first instance of "this" and "a", you can look at doing that via regular expressions. In that case, you could use import re with open('data.txt', 'r') as dataFile: for line in dataFile: data += re.sub("\bthis\b", "", line) # Replace with "it" data += re.sub("\bthis\b", "", line) # Replace with "it" data += re.sub("\ba", "", line) # Replace with "it" You would have to note this is prefectly fine if the file is all one long blob of text and if this is the only chunk with those characters. If there are
